FIRE AT FRESNO.

Thought to be the Work of an In cendiary. Fresno, July 17th.—A fire started in a stable next to the Russ House Hotel this morning at a quarter to 4 o'clock. The livery stable and its contents, including many horses and vehicles, was destroyed. The flames spread to the Russ House and quickly burned the building to the ground. The indications are that it was of an incendiary origin. The loss will reach about $40,000. Fears were entertained at first that some of the guests of the hotel perished in the flames, but at 2 o'clock in the afternoon a thorough search of the ruins had been made and it seems certain that no lives were lost. There were a number of narrow escapes and several persons were burned, but not severely.

San Francisco Call.

The Canadian Pacific appears to have succeeded in inducing the Bristish Post-office to grant it an increased subsidy for its steamship line to China and Japan. The dispatch to the Montreal Gazette which contains the news states that the amount of the new annual subsidy is to be £500,000 be called upon. It will not do, however, self by close observation and attention to or $2,500,000. This seems to be an exgggeration, though it may be an accurate statement. England has always been liberal in fostering steamship lines. The Canadian Pacific will have to build new steamers for the berth; such old craft as the Parthia and the Abyssinia will not answer. New ships would cost about half a million apiece, and probably two could be built every year. It goes without saying that four ships like the Aurania or the City of New York plying between Yokohama and Vancouver, with a monthly subsidy of $200,000, would compete rather formidably with the ships now running between that urally centers at this point, and efforts to divert it to other points by fast steamers and subsidies look like trying to make water run uphill; still it is plain that Great Britain and Canada are trying vigorously to destroy onr Asiatic commerce. They may not be able to take it all away; but the profit of it will be gone when the Canadian line is started. The subsidized vessels can carry freight and passengers at a loss. If our lines follow the example, it is a mere question of time when they will have to stop running. What then shall we do? Shall we follow the example of the English and vote a couple of hundred thousand dollars a month out of the proceeds of general taxation to the stockholders in the Pacific Mail and the Oriental and Occidental? or, shall we say to our friends across the borders as Mr. Adams said to Lord John Russell when Laird's rams were fitted out for sea: "This is war and your Lordship may prepare for it!" War nowadays is not always carried on with shot and shell. It may be waged most destructively without burning an ounce of gunpowder. Old Shylock said : Nay, take my life and all, pardon not that; You take my house when you do take the prop That doth sustain my house; you take my life When you do take the means whereby I live. When these neighbors of ours go to work deliberately to break down the foreign competition, but by the interference of worse by an actual state of war. It is all of a piece. The accounts of the Southern Pacific for the five months ending 31st May show earnings of $17,671,000, and expenses for operating, betterments taxes, interest and payments to Government on account of the subsidy bonds amounting to $19,379,000; the five months' work showing a deficit of $1,708,000. The local business showed no decline worth mentioning; the reduction of earnings was in through business, and represents the inroads which the Canadian Pacific has made into the business of our lines. It reduced the quantity of merchandise sent on our roads by carrying freight at rates which would have involved a loss if the Canadian Government had not shouldered it. Under the Act passed by the fiftieth Congress, the President is empowered to pro claim an embargo on trade with Canada whenever in his judgment the public interest requires it. Here is a timely bit of advice: Do not orget to give baby (no matter how young) drink of water every now and then. Some mothers never think of doing this, and all the time the poor little thing is actually suffering for the want of water. Just a few drops in a spoon will do at first. Nothing will satisfy a child until it gets Some years ago I heard of a case for the doctor. He came, and after examining it carefully said: "The child is dying for the lack of water. RIVER POLLUTION.

REDDING'S INTENDED DRAINAGE INTO THE SACRAMENTO RIVER.

Views of an Experienced Chemist, Who Has Given the Matter a Close Investigation.

John Eitel, the well-known chemist and investigator, writes to the Record-Union on the interesting and important question of the interesting and important question of the private was a caucus. Knowing many the pollution of the river from which this of those who were candidates, however, the city draws its water supply. Mr. Eitel's reporter next sought them, and learned were pending. He had sufficient evidence held in the old Court-room, if satisfactory to see the convictions in most of the other to the Judge, as the present place was encommunications are usually too technical for general reading. In the present instance we present extracts and formulate statements from his most recent letter, that will be found to be of much interest and that address themselves to the best interests of the city. The chemist says:

"In regard to the sewage question—the proposition of the town of Redding to empty its sewage into the Sacramento river I desire to say that none who have folwed the march of sanitary science will agree with the expressions of indifference reported to have been made at a recent meeting of the Board of City Trustees. If the catfish, as has been suggested, have to handle Redding's sewage, in course of time other Reddings will claim the right to call on the catfish to undertake a similar task. It is said that only liquid sewage will be emptied into the river at Redding. It is simple fact that in case of an epidemic of disease it is just as dangerous. There is in the civilized world so much evidence on the subject, that there can be entertained no doubt by any who are at all informed upon the questions in this matter.

In the SUNDAY UNION of June 8th, under the heading 'Sanitary Lessons,' there is sufficient light thrown on the subject, but a great deal more can be added. The cholera in Spain was transmitted by water from above to those below on streams, and, as a result, thousands of lives were lost. The question is not so much, shall Redding be permitted to dump and drain sewage into the river? but, how many Reddings in the future shall be justified by the precedent in doing likewise? If you think it worth while, turn back your files of the RECORD-UNION and read the article published January 13, 1883, on 'Gaseous Poisons,' which was written in view of the cesspool debate, and the question now will receive additional light. Consider this suggestion about allowing the fluid sewage to be turned into the river, and the idea that solid matter can be retained on land—the result will be the laxation of the soluble matter from the solid, and the poison will still pass into the river. A lump of sugar or salt may be termed 'solid,' but how long will either remain so in water? If dissolved, will the component parts of sugar or salt be less vital? Yet one compound may act as a preservative and the other give the catfish still more to

In your Sunday issue this week you refer to the experiment in Switzerland, showing that certain substances placed on the soil were indicated in wells some distance away in due course of time; particularly the instance of flour is cited as not making itself manifest; these substances were not dissolved chemically to any extent, and the experiment cannot therefore be looked

The National Grange will hold its annual session in San for chlorine when plant life is investigated; Grange will hold its annual session in Sacit is different, however, with other compounds necessary to plant life, particularly therefore, to advertise are extensive. the phosphates. These the virgin soil tenaciously holds back until fully saturated and then only will they be carried off by the aid of the water. From my standpoint, upon this retaining power of the soil hinges the animal kingdom. If the grass could not draw from the soil these chemical parts necessary for the sustenasion of the young animal—say, for instance, with milk—how could the animal be developed? Even an egg cannot be developed without some lime being used by the hen. In wheat nearly everything is found, and combining this with milk our species need not starve; but for all we must rely upon the soil, excepting the carbon part, which is liberated from carbon dioxide, phosphates, etc., are necessary to animal life when partaken of according to Nature's formula and intention, on the other hand when in a liquid state, as in the case of laxation, they are of great injury, but mostly so in transmitting the germs of epidemic disease. The Chinese are in advance of us in this, that they boil their water for drinking. But to conclude, this proposed emptying of excremental matter into the Sacramento river is a very important matter and concerning which, if the water is to be continued in use by the city, our municipal authorities ought to take a decided and a conservative stand."

Their names are as follows: Miss Aull, to succeed Mrs. Tryon in the High School; Julian W. Johnson, of Galt, o be Principal of the new grammar school at Twenty first and L streets; Miss Watson (re-elected), to be Principal of the Sacramento Grammar School. The others are Helen Tower, Bertha Ebert, Jennie Snook, Alice Smith, Henrietta Andriott (all former substitutes), Miss — Ebert, Miss Flynn, Eya Bennett, Belle Peyran, Miss Neary. (These all are to have half-day schools.) The new substitutes are: Miss O'Neil, Miss Roth, Miss Richardson and Miss Crofton. Among the promotions agreed upon is said to be that of Miss Josie Reagan to be Vice-Principal of the new gram mar school. It is reported that Professor Dahl was dropped in consequence of a statement made to the Directors that he had admitted he was not capable of dealing with the Latin. This the Professor emphatically denies, and will to-night submit to the Board a proposition to go before the Fac-ulty of the State University, or any other body the Board may select, and undergo an examination as to his ability.

THE VERY BEST ADVERTISEMENT OF OUR GOODS WOULD BE THE GOODS THEM-selves could they be sent around for general inspection. As this is impossible, we fall back on the faithful types to assist us to describe, in some measure, the chief feature of our stock. We aim to satisfy all classes of buyers, and our stock, therefore, includes the Variety of Grades which have correspondingly Varied Prices. We desire to be known for cheapness, but we handle no cheap goods; that is to say, we give even in Low Prices the very best article the market affords for the money. It is a shot-righted policy for any merchant to make a reputation for low-priced goods at the expense of his reputation for values. No article is really cheap which will not return the buyer the full value of the money expended in its purchase. Our sleady aim is to satisfy buyers, not only by Alluring Bargains, but by the satisfaction that comes in goods that wear and stand the tests of actual use. KILLING THE NATIONAL GAME. Crookedness Discovered Among the St

Louis Browns. Sr. Louis, July 17th .- If all the rumors which are rife in baseball circles just now are true the day is rapidly approaching when the crookedness and hippodroming tendencies of baseball players will bring the national game into such flagrant disrepute as to make it a stench to the nostrils of all lovers of the manly sport. A Post dispatch says that for some time there have been stories affoat to the effect that certain members of the Brown Stocking Baseball Team were not playing ball. Stories of crookedness in the Browns were first started when they made that disastrous trip to Kansas City.

It was then and is still generally be lieved here that the team purposely lost these games to force Von der Ahe to remit the fine be had imposed on Robinson, who had refused to play unless it was remitted. Still, at that time, no one thought the club was losing for a monetary consideration, although there were stories afloat that they had Robinson against them in pool rooms. Those who made these charges, however, did not claim that the players were moved to play off by any other motive than to force Von der Ahe to Robinson's terms.

The men against whom the charges are made are pitcher King and third-baseman Latham. Instances are cited where King and Latham have been responsible for the loss of games, and one game is cited where the circumstances were, to say the least, suspicious between the Browns and Athletics. King was in the box in the first two innings, and a well-known sport was taken out and Stivetts substituted. At that point, although the Athletics were ahead, the sport commenced hedging, and gave odds to get his money protected. The Browns won by a score of 13 to 12. "TWIXT HEAVEN AND EARTH.

Dangling in Space in a Disabled Air-Ship. New York, July 17th.—An awe-struck crowd of men and boys gazed upward from the streets in the neighborhood of the Nassau Gas Company, Kent avenue, Brooklyn this morning. Floating far above was an object that resembled a balloon and dangling from it was what seemed to be a rope It was Professor Campbell's airship which a short time before ascended from the gas company's yard, and the swinging object which seemed scarcely attached to the netting from which it hung was Professor Hogan, the aeronaut. The airship capsized thousands of fee above the earth and the unhappy man having lost control of the aerial vessel, which was hurrying on toward the sea, seemed in imminent peril of dropping from that dizzy hight to certain death. Circulars announcing that the trial of the airship would be made this morning were circulated in Brooklyn, and before the appointed time a large crowd of curious persons gathered on Kent avenue. At 8 o'clock Professor Peter Campbell, the inventor and Professor E. D. Hogan, the aeronaut arrived with a moderate-sized bundle. I was taken into the yard and spread out on the grass, over which muslin had first been placed. A pipe was run into an opening in the balloon and gas forced into it. At 10 o'clock Campbell ordered the supply of gas turned off, the opening was closed, the ropes tested and bags fastened to the network which covered the inflated bag. Professor Campbell and Hogan looked a one another in silence. Campbell did not seem at all concerned. His actions and gestures seemed to say, "Well, in any event it's no funeral in mine. I am not going to navigate the air to-day.' THE DEPARTURE.

Professor Hogan seemed to interpre Campbell's thoughts, for as he stepped into the car a nervous tremor shook his frame The blood mounted slightly to his usually pale face and his voice was husky, as, taking in a few sandbags, he said: "Let her go. The ropes were cut and the airship darted into space. The ascent was cheered by the crowd. The balloon took a southeasterly course, although Hogan worked vigorously turning a crank, which kept the steering gasbag to face the wind. When over Hooper street about a mile distant, the wheel intended to raise and lower the ship became detached and fel into the vard of No. 74 of that street. I was picked up and taken by an officer to the nearest station house.

At 11:45 the airship was in a fair way fo Coney Island, at an elevation of several thousand feet. At the transfer office, Gra ham avenue and Meserole street, it was seen by a reporter. It seemed turned on end. A black streak about the size of rope was suspended from it. Occasionally it could be seen reaching up to the nettin of the balloon, where it would remain fo a time and then descend again. balloon was apparently overturned and the moving object was the aeronaut, vainly en deavoring to put the great airship in posi SEEN AT ASTORIA.

The balloon remained in sight until 12:30, when it vanished from view, the aeronaut still dangling from its meshes as the big air-ship faded from sight. At mid night the balloon was seen hovering over Astoria, the wind having during the twelve hours veered to the south. United States Commissioner Mueale was one of the many spectators. He said that at that time it was apparently stationary and fluttering like a dove. The air-ship was the same used at th polo grounds in this city on July 4th. At this time the projectors did not succeed in obtaining a sufficient quantity of hydroger gas, from the fact that they attempted to manufacture it by the immersion of iron

The balloon was about 30x50 feet in area and oval shaped. Beneath was a car o boat of the same length, fastened to the netting with ropes. Below the boat was the wheel which became detached, and perhaps had something to do with the overturning of the ship. On one end was a wheel used for propelling purposes. On the other end was a rudder. It was stated that the ship was operated by the Edison electric motor. Such was not the case. The wheels, which are shaped similar to those of a screw propel ler, are set in motion by turning a crank in the center of the car.

CLEVELAND SHELVED.

Belief that Whitney Will Head the Next Democratic Ticket. NEW YORK, July 17th .- There is some entertaining gossip current concerning Democratic politics. The rumor is that a deal has been made which shelves ex-President Cleveland permanently and places ex-Secretary William C. Whitney in the lead as the Democratic Presidential candidate in 1892.

Last week there was an influx of Demo-

Brice, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and their presence here is considered by shrewd Cleveland Democrats as another link in the chain of evidence to prove that a deal has been made. A prominent Cleveland Democrat said to-day he had every reason to believe that the machine Democrats had dropped Mr. Cleveland. His story of why the ex-President was dropped is the same as that given by rumor. Senator Gorman of Maryland was at first opposed to the election of Colonel Brice as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He felt that the Colonel represented the free-trade ideas of Cleveland, and he did not wish to have another campaign on the same issue as that of 1888 His opposition to Brice was assuming definite shape when the leaders "got together" and mapped out a course that pla-cated the Maryland Senator and made him an enthusiastic supporter of Brice.

The deal was that Whitney should have the support of the committee for the Presibacking the Athletics heavily. King's he failed to succeed Senator Payne then he pitching was so execrable that he was was to be supported by the committee for t Valley Forge, and was sent out on a A resolution was introduced limiting the at Valley Forge, and was sent out on a foraging expedition in the vicinity of French him off. His men scattered in various directions, by his orders, and he, when closely pressed, finally headed for a cave in which he had frequently hidden before. The entranced was closed by a rock so the pressure of a hand, and fitted the aper ture in such a way that it would simply be regarded as a portion of the disintegrated rock wedged in. As he retreated to the cave the enemy fired three shots, and from some cause, either his great haste or the concussion of the shots, the perfect poise of the rock was disturbed, and after falling in place it resisted all efforts to remove it. The writer was a prisoner in the cave, where he was in total darkness, except about half an hour in the afternoon, when a small ray of sunshine penetrated the murky depths of the cavern. He had writing materials in his knapsack, and using the knapsack for a desk wrote a full history of his terrible fate, in the hope that it would some day be given to the world.

The recital of his sufferings is realistic and apparatus and propelling wheels revolving. The recital of his sufferings is realistic and with the hope that he could compel the awful and he closes the account by saying that he expects to die a raving maniac.

Watches and Diamonds Found in Teas and Coffee-A Novel Way of Introducing Goods.

DIAMONDS.

The names of all persons finding dia monds, watches, etc., are added to this list dealy. The Overland Tea Company have refitted the store No. 421 J street, between Fourth and Fifth, formerly occupied by Cohn as a carpet store, and, in order to in troduce their goods, this company put for sixty days souvenirs in every can of tea and coffee sold, such as solid gold, silver and nickel watches; also, genuine diamonds in solid gold setting; also, money and many other articles of less value. Every can contains a souvenir. The coffee, can and contents weigh about three pounds; tea, can and contents about one and onehalf pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after sixty days, and these really choice goods will be sold strictly on their merits. but without the souvenir. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diamond or watch. This company claim that they have just as good a right to give away watches, diamonds or other jewelry as their competitors have to give away glassware, chromos, etc. Get up a club. Those who get up a club order most always get a handsome present. Orders by mail promptly forwarded to all parts of the United States on receipt of cash or pos office order.
